

The 4th Annual Fighting Owl Golf Classic

San Dimas Canyon Golf Course
August 9, 2010 - 1:00 PM Shotgun Start

Dear Friends,

On behalf of the Citrus College Athletics Department, we would like invite you to be a part of our 4th Annual Citrus College Fighting Owl Golf Classic. This event is scheduled for Monday, August 9, 2010 at San Dimas Canyon Golf Course, with a 1:00 PM shot-gun start. We are looking forward to a beautiful Southern California day and a great round of golf.

This tournament would not have been possible the last three years without the generosity and commitment of our sponsors. With your participation, we hope to raise funds that will support Citrus College Athletics and will allow Citrus College to continue to excel as one of the best community college athletic programs in Southern California. Thanks to last three years generous donations, we were able to launch the Scholar Baller program during the 2007-2008 sports seasons. This past year we honored more Scholar Ballers than ever before, and that is thanks in large part to your generosity.

The Scholar Baller program is an athletic academic achievement program that places an emphasis on the athletes performance in the classroom, and seeks to recognize those athletes who do positive things not only on the field, but off the field as well. Citrus College is one of just seven community college in California to implement this program for all of its athletic teams. Funds from the tournament have also gone on to support the program in a number of different ways.

Citrus College Athletics has long been associated with excellence on and off the field. The Fighting Owls boast over 76 conference players of the year, 88 conference championships, three Southern California Championships, and three State Championships. Along with their athletic prowess on the field, this year Citrus College was honored to have 45 athletes named to the Western State Conference All-Academic team in the fall.

We are proud of our athletes and with your support through sponsorship we can continue to strive for new levels of greatness. Your sponsorship will also provide you with exposure to hundreds of tournament participants and the community. Your sponsorship will share in Citrus' commitment to quality education for students today and in the future.
